The Flying W Airport located in Medford, NJ (directions are on back or you can visit their website at www.flyingwairport.com) is once again holding their fun, hands-on aerospace mania days. Any girl or boy ages 7-12, is welcome to participate. The program will include hands-on activities covering everything from designing airplanes, building rockets, gravity, physics of flight, history of aviation, Flyit Simulator and lots more!

The Aerospace Mania Days will run on Saturdays, April 3, May 1, June 5, and Friday, April 9. Please check your selection on the back of this sheet. Please note each session covers the same material content, and will run from 9:00am-3:00pm. The cost per child is $50.00 which covers lunch, beverages, Flyit Simulator, all hands-on curriculum, supplies, speakers etc. Registration is limited to 25 students so sign up early!

Jerry Iacona, former Executive Director of the NJ Aviation Council and retired N.J. certified school teacher will lead the program. Lt. Col. Stanley Troyano, Director of Aerospace Education for the Civil Air Patrol will assist with the workshops. Both instructors are certified Merit badge counselors by the Burlington County Council, Boy Scouts of America.

*During the aerospace days as well as the camp the E.A.A. will be providing introductory flights as part of their Young Eagles program. This is a separate program and is open to the public free of charge. Please note all flights are subject to availability of aircraft, volunteer pilots, and suitable weather. Check out their website at www.youneagles.org.
